danger

"When the nose is stopped up, as by a cold or bad habit mouth-breathing is indulged in, the inspired air is only partially warmed, moistened and otherwise prepared for contact with the deeper tissues of the throat, and hence is very apt to develop as a consequence of such misfortune."
—From a book by famous doctor.

To insure perfect mouth-breathing, form the healthy habit of clearing your head by snuffing a little Kondon's up your nose. Buy a tube at your drug store. We will pay you your money back if Kondon's does not do all we say. Sample tin free on request.

Prevalence of Spanish Influenza
in Washington has meant that something must be done toward feeding those confined to their rooms with no one to care for them, says the food administration. The experimental kitchen of the United States Food Administration has promptly gone about this work, sending out quantities of soup, custards, milk and crackers every day.

"The foregoing," says an announcement of the administration, "are just such foods as one should eat during the first stages of a cold. The fact that colds may turn into something worse, especially during such an epidemic as the present, should be sufficient warning to any one to call a doctor at once, and to eat properly, that the cold may be quickly thrown off."

Light Diet Urged.
"During the first few days eat a light laxative diet of low fuel value, letting hot lemonade or orangeade, broths or gruels with crisp toast, baked potatoes, mild stewed fruits and vegetables and milk be the chief articles of diet. This should be followed with a diet of ordinary food, and then as soon as the cold seems to be 'broken,' by one of fuel value higher than usual, so as to aid the body in recovering."

The experimental kitchen of the food administration here has been turned into a diet kitchen, in which food is prepared to send to employees of the food administration who are confined to their rooms. In addition, the diet kitchen is supplying the Red Cross daily with hot soup to be distributed to other influenza patients.

Food Prepared by Experts.
All the food sent out is prepared by dietary experts in a clean, well equipped kitchen. It is then packed in thermos bottles and delivered to the patients by the wives of the officials of the administration, who have volunteered their automobiles and their services to the work.

The administration also sees sick employees properly housed and are receiving the best medical care.

Two houses have been opened as temporary hospitals, in which patients may be brought who cannot receive in their own rooms the care they need. A visiting nurse is called promptly to those who would otherwise be unattended, and a number of the members of the food administration staff have volunteered to do nursing duty if it should be necessary.

Soup and Custard Distributed.
On the first day of the diet kitchen's activities in behalf of the sick thirteen quarts of soup and twenty-nine custards were distributed. The next day the following amounts were sent out: Sixty-three quarts of soup (vegetable soup, chicken soup, beef soup, etc.), thirty-one custards, fifteen portions of apple sauce, six quarts of milk, two boxes of crackers. Twenty-five quarts of soup were given to the Red Cross to distribute among their patients.

"This important work will continue as long as needed, and the many anxious mothers of food administration employees," says an announcement, "may rest assured that their daughters or sons are getting the best of care."

Aiding Restaurants.
"The cafeteria of the administration has taken an important step in combating the spread of influenza by opening its doors for three meals instead of only at the customary lunch hour. In this way it offers a relief to the already overcrowded restaurants of the city and it provides a place for the war workers to get clean, wholesome prepared food at moderate prices."

"The administration is recommending that other war bureaus open their cafeterias for three meals instead of one and so relieve congestion in the restaurants of the capital."
